BAND PLAYED "NEARER MY GOD TO THEE"

As Great Steamer Sank, Carrying 1,601 Souls Before Their Making—Story of The Disaster

New York April 19.—The Cunard liner Carpathia, a ship of gloom and awe, came into New York last night, with first news direct from the great White Star liner Titanic which sank off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, early on Monday morning last.

The great liner went down with her band playing "Nearer My God To Thee," taking with her to death all but 745 of her human cargo of 2,340 souls.

The list of prominent men missing stands previously reported, and the total death list as brought to port tonight by the Carpathia is 1,601.

Survivors in the lifeboat huddled in the darkness at a safe distance from the stricken ship and saw her go down.

Some maintain that a comparative calm prevailed; others say that wild disorder broke out, and that there was a maniacal struggle for the life boats. That the liner struck an iceberg as reported by wireless, was confirmed by all.

Sensational rumors told by hysterical passengers who would not give their names, said that Captain Smith had killed himself on the bridge; that the chief engineer had taken his life, and that three Italians were shot in the struggle for the boats. These rumors could not be confirmed in the early confusion attendant on the landing of the survivors.

Ripped from stem to engine room by the great mass of ice she struck amidships, the Titanic's side was laid open as if by a gigantic cannon.

She quickly listed to the starboard, and a shower of ice fell onto the forecastle deck. Shortly before she sank, she broke in two abaft the engine room, and as she disappeared beneath the water, the explosion of air caused two explosions, which were plainly heard by the survivors adrift.

A moment more and the Titanic had gone to her doom, with the fated hundreds grouped on the after-deck. To the survivors they were visible to the last, and their cries and moans were pitiable.

Top hogs were $8.10 at Cincinnati Friday.

A scene of indescribable panic prevailed when the giant Titanic struck the iceberg Sunday night, the flashes state. She was almost rent asunder by the terrific impact with the iceberg. She went to the bottom with almost the entire crew and nearly all of the male passengers.

Captain Smith was the first officer who realized the peril, but he did not believe that his boat, which he expected to pilot to glory on this, her maiden trip, was in danger of going down. As a precautionary measure, however, he instructed the wireless operator to send out the S. O. S. call, the international signal of distress on the sea, so that aid would be on hand if it came to the worst.

This was before the power failed, and the terrifying signal was sent into the night asking for assistance. The operator had barely clicked his instrument for the final letter of his message when the water flooded the dynamo room.

He turned to his accumulator set, which was weak, and spluttering messages were sent out, but they were incapable of carrying a great distance than a hundred miles.

The first S. O. S. call was picked up by the Carpathia, which headed at once for the scene of the disaster. The Titanic had gone down before she reached the spot, but numerous pieces of wreckage told the story of what had happened.

A number of bodies were seen floating about in the ice field. They were evidently those who had sought refuge on the floating cakes of ice or in clinging to the pieces of wreckage. The cold overcame them, and they perished while the Carpathia and a number of other liners were rushing to their aid. No attempt was made to recover the bodies.

With the final realization that his splendid craft was doomed, Captain Smith ordered the life boats lowered. His orders were obeyed with alacrity and the women and children were lowered.

The life boats were rocked and swayed by the wind and rolling of the big boat, and great difficulty was experienced in getting the women aboard without mishap.

There was a gathering in the grand salon on Sunday night attended by men and women of the first cabin in evening clothes. It was a gala night on board the great liner. Many of the women were lowered into the lifeboats in their evening gowns which afforded but scant protection from the chill winds and water.

Guided only by the cries of the distressed survivors, the Carpathia cautiously made her way through the dangerous ice fields, picking up boat load after boat load of frenzied women and children.

Many of the women were rendered temporarily insane by their harrowing experience.

Captain E. J. Smith commanding the Titanic was last seen by the survivors standing on the bridge with megaphone in hand. Wireless Operator Phillips did not leave his station. H. S. Bride, the second wireless operator on the Titanic was placed in one of the boats and is on the Carpathia. It is believed that Phillips when he realized the ship's doom, compelled Bride to leave the station and make his escape.

The survivors, only a few of whom are able to give connected accounts of what happened before they put off in the life boats, pay high tribute to the conduct of Captain Smith and his crew and to the men among the passengers.

Definite information has been received that the Titanic was proceeding at a speed of about ten knots, was abandoned on all sides and Captain Smith was cautiously feeling his way through the floating cakes. There was a thin, low-hanging haze which added greatly to the danger.

The iceberg was not sighted until the Titanic was dead upon it. Captain Smith signaled for the engines to stop but it was too late. Bow on, the queen of the seas sped to her fate. The gigantic mass of ice pushed ahead with irresistible force. The Titanic buckled up. Passengers who had retired were flung from their berths by the terrific force, and several were killed. Windows were shattered and ornaments were ripped from the walls.

The rush of the torrents of water could be plainly heard. Suddenly the lights went out as the water flooded the dynamo room, and the sinking ship was plunged into darkness.

A large number of the crew, peacefully sleeping in the forecastle head, were instantly crushed to death. But how many perished in this manner is a secret of the sea. More than 100 were killed by the impact and the ripping open of the vessel.

Among the prominent men lost, several of them millionaires were Isidor Straus, John Jacobs Astor, Benjamin Guggenheim, Major Butt and President Hays, of the Grand Trunk railroad, and William T. Stead, the great English writer.

LANCASTER.

Mrs. Henley V. Bastin gave an elaborate birthday dinner to a number of relatives.

Capt. Wm. Herndon was called to Lexington by the critical illness and death of his brother, Mr. Henry Clay Herndon. The deceased was 60 years old and was Division Deputy Collector with headquarters in Lexington. He is survived by a widow and one brother, Captain Herndon of this city.

Val Cook, the eleven-year-old son of W. R. Cook, met with quite a painful accident recently. While playing with a leather strap he hit himself in the mouth tearing a slit in his cheek. It was necessary to call in a physician and have the wound dressed immediately.

The trustees of the Lancaster graded school have awarded the contract to Messrs. C. A. and A. E. Webber, expert architects of Cincinnati, for the erection of a handsome $30,000 school building.

Mrs. Robert Price, age 46 years, died at Hackley in this county of a complication of diseases. Besides her husband she leaves 15 children.

Another little preacher has been added to the happy household of Rev. and Mrs. O. F. Bush. The sprightly little fellow has been christened Shelton Bush.

Mr. Am Christopher died at his home at Buena Vista after a general decline, age 70 years. He was for many years a faithful member of the Methodist church. One daughter and two sons survive him. The remains were taken to Burgin for interment.

Dr. W. E. Barton, of Chicago was with his sister Mrs. George M. Patterson Friday and Saturday. Miss Minnie Brown is at home from a visit to Misses Josephine and Kathleen Huxley in Nicholasville. R. E. Hughes and little daughter Margaret Elkin Hughes, of Louisville, have been guests of Lancaster relatives.

Mrs. Sallie Lawson and son George are in Lexington visiting Mrs. Herbert Gulley. Miss Edna Rice, of Richmond has been with Misses Lucy and Tommie Francis. Miss Annie Davis McRoberts, of Stanford, is visiting her cousins the Misses Mount. F. B. Marksbury is making a business stay in Chicago. Miss Ella Thompson, of Danville, is the guest of Miss Hallie Brown. Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dennis, of Nicholasville, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. West. Miss Addie Arnold is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ben King in Boyle. Miss Margaret Hoeker has returned to her home in Stanford.

ADAIR DEMOCRATS ARE FOR HARVEY HELM

Prominent Attorney There Writes That 90 Per Cent. Favor Re-Nomination of Lincoln Man.

Hon. R. L. Campbell, a prominent and well known attorney of Adair county, writes the Interior Journal that the democrats of that new addition to the Eighth district are almost solidly for the re-nomination and re-election of the big congressman, who has so ably represented this district for the past three terms in the course of an interesting and appreciated letter to this paper, he says:

"Let me say right here that Mr. Helm could not have been more favorably impressed with the citizenship of his newly acquired territory than the people of Adair county are with their new Congressman. I have talked with leading men from different sections of the county and if there is anything in the signs of the times, Mr. Helm will poll 90 per cent of the Democratic vote of Adair county at the coming Primary, regardless of who may oppose him."

"Adair county was once one of the banner democratic counties of the State, but for the last decade it has been so hopelessly buried in republicanism that its democracy has gradually declined, until of late years the republicans have been claiming the county by about three hundred votes. We have repeatedly asked to be transferred to some democratic district, but the Congressman who held sway in these districts seemed to be afraid of us, and many Democrats were almost on the verge of despair, and some of them hoping to gain the favor of the majority, actually joined the ranks of the enemy. But in the last race we succeeded in electing the county attorney and the county clerk. Then in the last State election our countryman, James Garnett, succeeded in winning the office of attorney general. Hope began to revive in the breast of democracy and when we asked for admittance into the Eighth district, Harvey Helm gladly welcomed us. And thus we are again set free. And let me say right here that it would be very ungrateful (and by the way Adair county democrats are not of that kind of material) if we should fail to lend our assistance in the nomination of Mr. Helm to succeed himself at the coming primary. Personally, I am for him regardless of who may oppose him. I speak a word for him at every opportunity and although no orator, I would attempt to make a speech in his behalf at every crossroads store in the county before August if I thought it necessary in order to secure a solid lineup for him at the primary."

"I find that there are also some republicans in the county who were glad to exchange Congressmen. I was talking with one the other day and he told me that he was well pleased with the change and that he could find no fault whatever with Mr. Helm. He said that he was forty years old and had never voted for a democrat in his life but that if called upon to make a choice between Mr. Helm and Caleb Powers he would most certainly select Mr. Helm."

"As above said, the republicans now claim Adair county by about three hundred votes, but unless there is a very radical change between now and the election I believe that Mr. Helm will carry the county. And if left is nominated by the republicans for President, I believe that the Democrats will carry the county by an old time majority. And now that we are out of the grip of the republican giant, I trust that we may soon reappropriate and come to our old time strength. I wish to hereby thank Mr. Helm, and the Senators and Representatives of the last legislature for coming to our rescue, and to assure them that the democracy of Adair county will always remember them for their kindness."

"And now that we have won a very signal victory in securing this change if our neighbors of the Eighth District will co-operate with us, I believe we can soon rout the enemy for good and thus permanently hold the territory we have captured, since it was originally our own."

TO LINCOLN DEMOCRATS

As I have told many of my friends privately during the past few months I now wish to state publicly to my friends, that, present conditions being unchanged, I will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from Lincoln county in the legislature before the democratic primary which will be held the first Saturday in August, 1913.

SHELTON M. SAUFLEY.

Thomas M. Owsley formerly of Stanford was elected chairman of the Taft Republican county committee of Fayette county.

Dr. Arthur Yager has withdrawn his resignation as president of Georgetown College.

PYTHIANS TO GIVE BIG MINSTREL SHOW

"Georgia Cotton Pickers" To Be Presented By Local Lodge At Opera House April 25.

The Diadem Lodge No. 81, Knights of Pythias of Stanford arranged for the evening of April 25th for the presentation of the "Georgia Cotton Pickers" in an evening's program of old time minstrelsy consisting of the very latest songs, funny sayings, monologues, etc., using local talent in it entirely, and first class performance is assured. As this is a benefit for the local order come out and help the boys. Admission 35 and 50 cents.

Watch for entire program in next issue.

The average American man or woman sees enough of the broken home and unscrupulous villain in every day life without going to the theatre and paying for the chance of seeing it reproduced as a mode of entertainment. An evening at the theatre to witness such a play does not refresh the energy and after all, it is not what the public wants when attending the theatre. They want to be amused in an artistic manner. The original Georgia Cotton Pickers was written for that purpose and satisfied the desire for light entertainment entirely. If you can't laugh don't come. Will be seen at local Opera House on Thursday night, April 25. Benefit Diadem Lodge No. 81, K. of P.

WILL LOVE ACQUITTED

Of Charge of Selling Drink of Whisky to Mack Bright.

A jury in the police court this week acquitted Will Love of the charge of selling a drink of whisky to Mack Bright, both being colored. Mack was arrested for being drunk and when hauled before Judge Menefee at first said that a white man had given him the drink. When confronted with the possibility of a heavy fine, he said he would tell from whom he bought it, if the Judge would let him off light. He was assessed only $5 and then said that he had bought the whisky from Bill Love. There was considerable conflict of testimony as to Bright's being with Love at the time that he claimed to have bought the whisky and the jury found Love not guilty. Jesse Love was out to work on the streets for 20 days, for hopping on a train; Daisy Barnett got 30 creating a disturbance at the depot, days and Ernest Brown 30 days for

TURNERSVILLE

The farmers of this community are making hay while the sun shines. Some who had about become discouraged, have gone to work, believing that it's never too late to do good.

A large crowd is expected to attend a special rally at the Turnersville Sunday school Thursday April 21.

Mrs. Mollie Martin, of Stanford, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ward, of Lexington, are visiting Mr. Ben Goode.

Miss Georgina Johnson of Stanford was here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McWhorter, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Gabbery near Kidd's Store.

Mrs. J. K. Rout visited relatives at Hustonville Friday and was accompanied home by Miss Martha Tucker.

Messrs. Joe Will Rout and Will Neal, were here Thursday on their way to Stanford.

Mr. Arnold Foreman, of Greensboro, N. C., was the guest of Mr. Bryan Bradshaw last week and while here visited his best girl at Hustonville.

The church at Turnersville is deeply grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Brooks, of Ladoga, Ind. Rev. Brooks preached his first sermon at this church several years ago. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband.

Mrs. G. W. Koger is not improving any.

Mrs. Warner Hudson, of King's Mountain is visiting Mrs. G. Koger.

Morrison Breckinridge, the only son of the Hon. Robert J. Breckinridge, died at his home in Danville last week of tuberculosis after a long illness. Besides his father and mother he is survived by his wife.

Congressman Ollie M. James has replied to a letter sent him by Judge Hager, Wilson's campaign manager in Kentucky, and declares he favors a presidential primary as does Speaker Clark, for whose candidacy he stands. As there is no presidential primary law in Kentucky, it would cost about $40,000, so there'll be no primary.

HUSTONVILLE

The horsemen in the West End show Saturday afternoon at Hustonville will have a horse show Saturday afternoon at Hustonville. There are a number of splendid animals in this end of the county and a big crowd will undoubtedly be out to see them. Popular Doc Drye will be Master of Ceremonies.

The Hustonville A. B. C. Union Social will be at Mrs. Barnett's Friday at 7:30 P. M.

Rev. Robert M. Hopkins, National Sunday School Superintendent, will address the Hustonville people at the Christian church next Sunday night.

Miss Elizabeth Bogle came down from Lexington Thursday, for a short visit to the Misses Bogles here.

Miss Stella Sweeney, a returned missionary, will address the C. W. B. M. Auxiliary Tuesday afternoon at the Christian church.

PAINT LICK.

Jim Rhodes has sold his farm of 60 acres to Will Nog for $50 per acre.

Mrs. Sallie McCormack has sold her farm of 102 acres for $120 per acre.

Sanfield & Patrick have sold their farm of about 160 acres to Frank Moore of Whitley county for $90 per acre.

Peoples Bank is having some repairs on the fixtures. The damage was done by the fire some time ago. The merchants have new goods and the ladies are enjoying the display. Paint Lick can boast of having three milliners and the ladies can be pleased with any kind of headgear they may wish.

The two school districts of Madison and Garrard are making endeavors with the aid and co-operation of the two county superintendents and the two educational boards of the two counties to consolidate the districts into one and build a suitable school building. We hope this may be done. We then can have a good graded school of two hundred or more.

Good school and good roads are the needs of old Kentucky.

James Dobbs was knocked from a bridge near Sloan's Valley by a Q. & C. train and instantly killed. In his pocket he carried a marriage license, showing that he was to have been married the day following.

One of the best points in favor of Foley Kidney Pills is the comfort and relief they give to elderly people. Mrs. R. D. McGee 301 East 5th St., Owensboro, Ky., is in her 78 year and says: "I heard of Foley Kidney Pills and began taking them, and they commenced to set at once, and to-day my kidneys and bladder troubles are all gone." The State Board of Equalization has accepted Lincoln county's assessment as made this year.

REV. LOGAN PREACHING POWERFUL SERMONS

Clear, Forceful Presentation of "Real Thing" in Religion at Presbyterian Services

The series of special services now being held in the Presbyterian church is calculated to be of much profit to all who attend the meetings. The preaching by the Rev. S. M. Logan, of Wilmore, is of earnest practical sort that commends itself to the conscience of all thoughtful persons irrespective of denominational connection. It is a clear, forceful presentation of the "real thing" in religion.

The preacher shows Jesus Christ not only as He is revealed in the New Testament but as He desires to be revealed in the lives of His people. The hearers come away from the services not merely grateful for the preacher, but with larger thoughts of God and a clearer vision of duty and responsibility because of an enlarged view of His truth and love.

At the evening service on Monday Mr. Logan discussed in a strong, vigorous way the vital theme "Knowing God". He took his text from the book Jeremiah 9: 23-24, bringing out the great thought that God's plan and purpose alike for the individual as for the nation, is that each shall find Him, and failing in realizing that purpose in one's life is to fail with regard to the main thing. To know God is the glory of life.

On Tuesday and Wednesday at the afternoon services, those present enjoyed two most helpful and deeply spiritual discussions of Paul's teaching with regard to the responsibility that rests on the church as a whole for the work of ministering to the needs of the community and of building up the spiritual life of the people. It is regrettable that only a small part of the church membership was present to hear these two powerful appeals.

The service on Tuesday night was a triumph call of gratitude to God. "Think and Thank" was the keynote. The thoughtful are always the thankful.

The Wednesday night service was more largely attended. Mr. Logan gave a clear presentation of Christ as the one and only mediator between God and man and made a strong appeal to his hearers to accept Christ as a personal Savior.

R-R-R-RATS!

68 Rodents Killed In Corn Crib on S. H. Baughman's Place

Will Wearen and Tom Rainey killed 68 rats which came out of the corn crib on the farm of S. H. Baughman early this week. They had a regular old-fashioned "rat killing" time for about fifteen minutes. The corn in the crib had gotten low, and as quite a number of large rodents were often seen reconnoitering outside, they determined to go after them. The remainder of the corn was removed, and they got after the colony with sticks. About forty were killed as they tried to get out of the crib, and the others were slain while trying to hide in weeds and fence corners. And a number escaped. Some of the rats were said to have been almost as large as cats, and among them were a number of old gray bearded grandfathers. Rats!

EUBANKS.

The people are making garden around here, when they get the ground dry long enough. The rain is making the grass grow fine now.

The good news now is that we will have a pike through here. Now I guess we won't have to wade through mud then.

Mrs. Bertha Young, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Taylor at Eubanks, started on her return home Sunday, in Montana.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gooch who have been visiting at Crab Orchard, will return home to-day.

Bro. Tilford filled his appointment Saturday and Sunday nights. His appointments are 2nd and 4th Sundays.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers returned home from their visit in Ohio a few days ago. They said they had a fine visit and liked the country fine.

MULLENX-YOUNG

Miss Susan Mullenx and Mr. Lucien Young, of Jumbo section, were married at the court house, Tuesday, April 16, by Supt. Singleton. They will make their future home at Jumbo.

POPULAR AUTO MAN HERE.

Mr. J. M. Wakefield from the Studebaker Corporation, Louisville Branch, was in town this week showing the E. M. F. "30" and Flanders "20" cars. The Danville Ice & Coal Co., have the agency for Lincoln county and Haselden Bros., of Lancaster represent this line of cars in Garrard. Mr. Wakefield is well-known here having traveled this state for 5 years.
